Welcome to NT16!

The Nanotube (NT) conference series counts amongst the foremost scientific meetings in the field of nanoscience and nanotechnology. Its aim is to disseminate the latest advances in both the science and the technology of carbon nanotubes, and low dimensional materials. The seventeenth edition – NT16 – will be held on August 7-13, 2016 at the historic main building of the University of Vienna. The conference will address progress at the frontiers of fundamental as well as applied research and will allow participants to exchange ideas and results of their latest work in an informal atmosphere.

NT16 will feature in plenary sessions over 5 days: tutorial talks to help new people get into the field, keynote speakers by absolute top scientists in the world, invited talks from leading researchers in the field, and contributed talks chosen from the best submitted abstracts. The remaining contributions will be presented in poster sessions, which are a main focus for the conference. The main meeting is preceded by five parallel Satellite Symposia organized at the building of the Faculty of Physics on Saturday the 13th of August.

The Organizing Committee of NT16 would like to offer this opportunity for exhibitors and sponsors to help us make this a fruitful and stimulating event.

We look forward to welcoming you to Vienna!

Vienna

Vienna is the capital and largest city in Austria, and the 9th largest city by population in the European Union. For centuries, Vienna was the center for culture and science of the Habsburg Empire, which ruled much of Europe. Vienna is known for its classical music: Mozart, Beethoven, Haydn and Schubert recognized the glory of this city to use it as a muse for composing their brilliant classical masterpieces.
